Nothing important was done by the Aldermen last night. There were three new applications for railroads from stage proprietors. The ugly appearance of the bills for the Henry Clay Funeral has fairly frightened the Aldermen, and they have voted to autherize the Commissioner of Repairs and Supplies to make arrangements for the Webster Obsequies. The Board will meet again on Monday.

Among the passengers by the Humboldt was Mr. W. H. Fay-whom our readers know as W. H. F., our Paris correspondent-and who returns to his netive country after an absence of several years. Mr. Fry arrives here for the purpose of giving the Loctures on Music to which we have several times had occasion to refer in terms of the highest commendation. The time and details of the lectures will soon be an nounced to the public.

LAUNCH .- The splendid clipper-ship "Jacob Bell" was launched yesterday morning at 9) o'clock, from the yard of Abraham C. Bell, foot of Houston st. East River. This fine ship was commenced by the late Jacob Bell, and was in frame at the time of his death. It has since been completed by his son, A. C. Bell, who has continued and will hereafter continue, the basiness of his father. A finer specimen of nautical archi secture has seldom been committed to the "great deep" than the clipper Jacob Bell. No care or expense has been spared in her construction. Notwith-standing the severe storm which prevailed she went off at the appointed time lightly and gracefully. Her di-mensions are as follows, viz: Length, 201 feet; breadth of beam, 38 feet, depth of hold, 22 feet; mak ing about 1,450 tuns burden. Mesers, William Platt & Sons, of Philadelphia, are her owners, and Capt. Kilham, formerly of the Valparaiso, is to be her command. er. She is intended for the California trade, and will soon be in readiness for sea. Her lower masts are already in. We shall look for good time on her first TRIAL TRIP OF THE NEW STEAMSHIP UNCLE Sam -This beautiful steamship made her trial trip on Thursday. Between 10 and 11 o'clock, some 200 invited guests came on board, (a part of whom were la dies.) Soon after 11 o'clock the vessel was got under way from the dock foot of Corlears at., East River, and after going a short distance up the East River, returned and proceeded down the Bay as far as the Southwest Spit. The Uncle Sam passed the Barge Office at the Eattery at 11) o'cleck, and arrived at the light ship, a distance of 25 miles, at 1 o'clock and 3 minutes, accomplishing 184 miles per hour, with 22 lbs. steam and 18 revolutions of the wheel per minutes. She is allowed by law to carry 30 lbs. steam. Her dimensions are as follows: length of keel 240 feet: length of deck 250 feet; beam 36 feet; register 1,800 tuns. Her machinery was built at the Allaire Works. She has a 66-inch cylinder, with stroke of piston 12 feet. The boiler is 28 feet in length, 12] feet front and 12 feet shell; the wheels are of iron and 32 feet in distinctor.

wheels are of iron and 32 feet in diameter.

This vessel will accommodate 150 saloon passengers, 250 second class passengers, and 458 steerage passengers, making in all 858 passengers, and but 10 less than the complement of the Ohio, which is the largest account in the California trade, measuring 2,500 tans. An improvement upon most other vessels is, that the berths of this vessel run lengthwise instead of athwart ship, thereby making it much more comfortable for the passengers. Each room is also well ventilated, and the ship is ventilated throughout, with patent ventilators running from the hold to the main deck.

From eppearances, all present appeared delighted with the excursion, and many of the ladies expressed their regret that the enjoyment of the day was so soon to end. Capt Mills and Purser Comstock were extremely attentive to the guests, thereby adding much to the enjoyment of the day.

TEN MORE STEAMSHIPS TO BE BUILT .- The Philadelphia Ledger of Monday says Capt. R. F. Loper, of that city, has just concluded a contract with the New-York, Baltimore and Alexandria Steamship Co. for the construction of ten propeller steamships, which are to be built and fitted out for delivery in March next. The dimensions of these vessels are 160 feet in length, 25 feet of beam and 11; feet depth of hold. Each vessel is to have a pair of engines, with cylinders 2s inches in diameter and 2s inches stroke. When completed, they will compose lines between New-York and Balti-more, and between New-York and Alexandria.

SHIP-BUILDING AND LAUNCHES .- On Thursday morning, the beautiful clipper ship Baid Eagle, of 1,460 tuns, was launched from the ship yard of Donald McKay, East Boston. She is an very superior model, and thoroughly built. The iron work is well finished, as is also the wood work, which is of the best material She is owned by Geo. B. Upton, Esq., of Boston, and will arrive in New York on Tuesday, to take her place in Mr. John Ogden's line, for California.

THE CARTMEN OF NEW-YORK .- An adjourned meeting of the Cartmen of New-York was held on Thursday night at Hermitage Hall, corner of Houston and Allen ets., for the purpose of forming a Society for Mutual Protection. Mr. James Rielly was called to the Chair. Mr. Patrick McCabe was appointed to act as Secretary. The Chairman stated that in consequence of the great increase of rents in the City consequent on heavy taxation and increase of inhabitants, as also because of the high prices of provisions, the great body of the Carmen considered that the present prices paid were too small for living and supporting their families and they considered the best way they could make their wishes known to their employers would be by expressing them through a Society; and that a Society speaking unanimously the desires and wants of the body would be listened to with greater attention than if an individual demand was made. Hence they came to the conclusion of forming a Society for Matual Protection. A Committee had been appointed on the last night of meeting to draft a Constitution and By-Laws for the body, which the Secretary would now read for

The Secretary then read these documents, which are mostly the same as those governing other bodies of a like nature. The Society is to be called "The Public Cartmen's Mutual Benefit and Protective Society," and is to be managed by a President, Vice President, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, Treasurer, and an Executive amittee, consisting of ten members, all to be chosen by ballot. The Treasurer and Secretary to be paid officers. One of the rules of the Society is that no one connected with any secret society can be a member. And another is that any one resorting to dishonest mean for a livelihood shall be refused admission, and expelled If a member. The Secretary then read a list of prices, which the Committee proprosed should be charged for carting to the different coal yards, per load, tun and chaldron, regulating the price by the distance, which is to be about fifty cents a mile per load. This is a slight rise on the present prices, but the Chairman announced that nothing would be acted on till next April or May, so as to give the coal merchants an opportunity of regulating their purchases to meet this demand. Neither the By-Laws nor List af Prices were adopted, as the meeting did not consider that they went sufficiently into detail. Several members inculcated unanimity in their proceedings. A collection was taken up to pay Several new members were admitted, and then the meeting adjourned to Taursday

DANGEROUS SPORT .- On Thursday evening some unknown person amused himself by discharging an air gun from the Purk side of Broadway into the windowsof several stores on the opposite side of the street. The first discharge sent a bullet through the window of Hall & Son's music store, corner of Broadway and Park-place. The next one struck the window of Smith's carpet store, No. 256 Broadway, but did not break it. The third report of the gun hurled a ball through the window of H. L. Shardlow's gentleman's furnishing store, No. 266 Broadway, and lodged in the premises, but did no farther damage except fracturing the glass. These several discharges of the almost silent weapon were all within the space of ten minutes. One of the bullets came near striking the person of Officer Cropsey of the Third Ward, who at that time was patrolling his beat in Broadway. The Officer is somewhat of the opinion that the perpetrator of this dangerous outrage was a personal enemy to him self and intent on taking his life in the above dastardly manner. Although such may not have been the intent of the individual perpetrating the mischief, other lives, however, might have been sacrificed. A similar trick of this character was practiced in Barclay-st. a few nights since, which was traced home to the offender or at least to an individual who fathered the mischief to the extent of nearly $20. Malicious persons so reckless of human life, should be punished for their temerity. The Officer made thorough search on both sides of the Park railing for the person so intent on making mischief, if not of sacrificing life, but could not see or hear anything of him.

SAD ACCIDENT .- At about 9 o'clock on Monday evening, Miss Ann Weeks, residing at 94 Allen st., while bathing herself with linament, accidentally let the bottle she was using fall on or noar the stove, and was instantly wrapped in flames. She was alone in the room at thatime of the accident, and the door being locked, she was so seriously burned that death ensued at 5 o'clock the following morning. Miss Weeks was a near neighbor and friend of the Whitlocks, who perished with the 'Henry Clay,' and she has been for many years a member of the same church. Her Pastor, Rev. Thomas Armitage, will notice this melancholy event in a suitable discourse on Sabbath morning, at the Norfolk st. Beptist Church

ANOTHER WARNING TO DRUNKARDS-A CHILD KILLED BY ITS MOTHER.-An inquest was yesterday beld at No. 180 Elizabeth-st., upon the body of a child, two months and fourteen days old, son of Mrs. O'Brien, living at that place, who came to its death in the following manner: It appears that about 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, a relative of the mother's called at the house, while under the influence of liquor, and persuaded the mother to go to a grocery near by for some rum. On her return, both drank freely and roon became quite noisy. A woman named Cutter, who lived in the house, finally persuaded the visitor to leave. She then left the room of Mrs. O'Brie and was gone about half an hour, when she returned and found Mrs. O'Brien lying upon the floor with he infant under her, the former being perfectly stupified from the effects of the liquor, and the latter dead. It is probable that the wretched mother, while her babe wa ting upon her lap, had fallen from the chair upon the floor, and being unable to get up, had in this way smothered the child. So great had been the pressure upon the child, that its face was deeply indentated and black ened by the rag carpet upon the floor. The Jury rendered a verdict of death by suffocation by being over laid by its mother, who is supposed to have been intoxi cated at the time. The Jury also find that it was the result of culpable neglect on the part of the mother The father of the child, at the time of the occur, ence was at work down town.

The volunteer tossts were then presented, and the festivities were prolonged for some time longer. The Hebra Hased Va Amet" was formed fifty years ago by five members of the congregation Sherith Israel. Though working ellently nearly the whole of the past half century, the first jubilee of the "Hobra" has but just been celebrated. The object of the Society is en tirely benevelept, the relief of distressed and the interment of deceased indigent but worthy Israelites. We learn that the Society is now in a flourishing condition, and that the object of the late Jubilee—the formation of a reserved fund-is likely to be speedily realized.

Young Men's Christian Association LECTURES.-The Young Men's Christian Association of this City have commenced a course of lectures to the young men of the City, the first of which was preached by Rev. Dr. Vermilye, at Lafayette-place Church. The subject selected was the appropriate and suggestive one of Beneficence, which was presented in an attractive aspect, and commended with earnestness to hi hearers as the noblest style of life. Beneficence, said he, is the ornament and true glory of our earthly state -the distinctly-formed purpose of it, the duty of youth; the active, pervading spirit of it, the power of man hood; and the ripe fruits of it, the dignity and honor of old age. Next to the duties we owe directly to God and to ourselves, as a permanent and essential part of eve ry rightly adjusted religious life, are we called to do good to all men. It is one of the highest and truest aims to which the energies of an immortal being can be dedicated. Dr. V. insisted, as the first condition of a benefi cent life, that life be commenced with a deliberately formed purpose. An aimless life cannot be a fruitful or a useful one. A purpose, moreover, to do good; and not only the purpose, but the means of doing good, enter into a truly beneficent life. No particular sphere is essential-good may be done in any sphere; we must consult our circumstances, and adapt our efforts to them. Our position must be consulted-our talents -our particular bias of character-in order to make the most of ourselves. Another condition of doing good is to observe passing opportunities, and promptly take advantage of them. But not only is a purpose to be wisely fulfilled, evil courses are also to be avoided. Our powers may be very actively employed, and yet to very little purpose. Life is too short, and its ends are too serious, to allow us to squander it on trivial pursuits. Effort should not be spread over too many objects; nor be wasted upon impracticable plans. To be good rather than great-to be useful rather than brilliant, should be the aim. The discourse eloquently presented some of the more commanding motives which should urge the young to such a life. There is no moral spectacle so grand and imposing as that of a mind imbaed with right principles, thoroughly intent in doing good. The spirit of benevolence will give the finest finish to character; adorn life with the highest degree of utility; relieve it from an aimless course and an ignoble end; and make us better acquainted with ourselves and the objects of our being here below. This life, too, is but preparatory to another, and if rightly improved, to a better.

THE TEMPERANCE TENT .- There was a Temperance meeting last night in the Temperance Alliance Tent, at present pitched in "Paradise Square," on the Five Points. The audience chiefly consisted of about two hundred persons-residents of that locality. There were present as speakers Mr. Haydock, the ex-woodsawyer of Hudson; Hon. Sanford L. McOmber, Mesers, Brooks, Beck and Lee. There was no disposition manifested by the neighbors to disturb the meeting.

The building on the corner of Murray and Church-sts., lately occupied by Rev. Dr. Chapin's congregation, will also be demolished shortly, to make room for stores.

NEW-JERSEY ITEMS.

WATER FOR JERSEY CITY AND HOBOKEN .-The project of abundantly supplying Jersey City and Hoboken withwater from the Pascaic River is in such a state of forwardness that it is believed that sufficient of the plan will be in operation ten or twelve months hence, to supply Jerrey City. The Act authorising this work was passed by the New-Jersey Legislature March 18, 1851, and the Commissioners appointed to examine and consider all matters relative thereto, are Mesers, John D. Ward, D. S. Gregory, A. L. Van Beskerck and Edward Coles. Also, S. D. Harrison, President of the Common Council, After having carefully considered the various plans which have been presented, the Committee have, for good reasons, onsidered that as the most feasible which proposes to take water from the Passaic River at Belleville, dia tant from Jersey City over six miles. The Company has been formed, and the stock is $600,000, and all taken. Proposals for this stack were advertised for, and $400,000 more offered than was required.

The plan adopted, is to take the water from the river near Helleville, conduct it by an open cut four hundred feet to the pump well; thence to pump it through a rising main 20 inches in diameter, and two thousand two hundred feet in length, to the receiving reservoir on the top of the hill there situated, which is one hundred and fifty feet in hight above high water. The team engine by which this pumping will be done, will be capable of forcing up a supply sufficient for one hundred thousand persons. The contract for the engine has not yet been given out. The proposals for its con-struction are under consideration. The contract for the receiving reservoir has not been given out. From the reservoir, the pipe will pass to the mursh on the east side of the ridge, crossing the marsh to Bergen Hill, probably by a route near the turnpike, and cross-ing the river by means of piers built alongside, but independent of the piers of the turnpike bridge. Upon here piers the pipes will rest, inclosed in an air-tight box, which will protect it from the severest cold of winter. At the draw, the pipe will descend, and pass under water, below the reach of vessels. The pipe extending from the receiving reservoir near Belleville to the distributing reservoir on Bergen Hill, will be twenty inches in dismeter.

The distributing reservoir will be located on Bergen

Hill, intermediate of Jersey City and Hoboken, and but one mile and three quarters from either place. It will occupy about thirteen acres of ground, and, with a depth of ten feet, will contain a supply of over thirty millions of gullons. The banks will be about four feet above the top water line. A coating of puddled earth will cover the bottom. The inside slopes will be graveled and lined with bricks, laid upon their edges, in sement, for a depth of six feet, or as far as the fluctuation of the water takes place. The outside slope will be sodded, and the top graveled. The reservoir will be divided by a wall of brick masonry into two compartments, having a gate and weir for admitting the water from one to the other, by which arrangement one division may be cleaned while the other continues to supply the pipes. The whole ground will be inclosed by a wooden fence. The receiving reservoir near Bellerille will be two hundred feet square, and, with a depth of eight feet of water, will contain nearly two millions of rallons. It may be made nearly all in excavation, in which case the sides and bottom, after being covered with puddled earth, will be faced with bricks Isid in cement. This reservoir will also be inclosed by a fence. If it is found that at certain seasons of the year the water will contain so much sediment as to require purifying, filtering beds will be constructed for that purpose. Distributing pipes will convey the water from Bergen Hill to supply Jersey City and Hoboken. The estimated cost of the work is about $653,000. Pipes are already being laid in Montgomery, Barrow and South Seventh-ste., of Jersey City, for supplying this water. The contract for the erection of the distributing reservoir, on Bergen Hill has been given to Messrs, James and Charles Collins, of Brooklyn, at less than the prices estimated by the Commissioners. C. Collins, who intends to superintend the work, constructed two of the receiving reservoirs of the Baston Water Works. The estimated expense yearly to those using this water, is based upon the charges for the Croton Water in New-York. Houses with one bath and and one water closet, $10; work-shops and back tenements $5; bakeries (5 bbls per day.) $15; ten horse power steam engines, $100; hotels, $30; taverus and sloons, $15; sea-going steamers, $50; locomotives, $100 - horses and cows. $2; livery stables, $75; street washers, $2; and houses per annum $10.

It is estimated that by this supply of water the saving by reducing the rate of insurance will be $20,000 per year; and in the Fire Department, public eisterns, wells and pumps, about $4,000 more each year. At present the insurance charges on first-class property is 15 cents per $100 more than in New-York, and upon the seventh class it is 50 cents per $100 more. Such being the nature of the soil that a supply of good water canno be obtained between Bergen Hill and the Hudson River or Bay, the success of this project is of vital consequence to Jersey City and Hoboken. The effect of it will be to rapidly increase their population, wealth and

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

The People :. James Doyle, Charged with the Murder of Charlotte Connery.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER .- Before Judge EDWARDS and Aldermen WARD and CORNELL, FIRST DAY-Friday, Nov. 12, 1802.

James Doyle indicted for the murder of Charlette Connery, at No. 510 Pearl st., was brought up for trial. It appears that prisoner (who is a man about 25 years of age) boarded at the above house with deceased. She occupied a room on the second story, part of which was screened off for a bed room. She had no other boarders. She also bad two sons, and a woman residing with her as a servant. Prisoner is said to be a blacksmith, but a good deal about in the house in the day time. He was also said to be a drinking man, and a quart of beer had been got for him, previous to this, by the girl, but she did not know whether he drank more than one glass of it or not. It was between 11 and 12 o'clock in the day. Prisoner was in bed. He had been up but went to bed again. It is said that while the girl C. was out on an errand, prisoner first cut the throat of deceased and then cut his own throat. No other persons were present. Another of the tenants in the house, in the story above, heard a shrick, and on going down saw Mrs. C. coming out of her room with her threat cut, and took her down to the store below, whence she was conveyed to the store of Dr. O'Nell opposite, thence to the hospital, where she died in a few days. She never spoke after being wounded. After seeing Mrs. C. wounded parties went into her room. Saw prisoner sitting on a low seat and his threat cut, and a razor near him which had blood upon it. Hie was taken to the hospital, but soon recovered. On being asked he said he knew nothing about it that he had been drunk for ten days. The District-Attorney appears for the prosecution, and Messrs, H. L.

Clinton and T. W. Higgins for the defense.

The above points were shown on the Coroner's inquest. A Jury, after a number of challenges, was obined and sworn, when the Judge remarked that his engagements and the engagement of the other members of the Court would render it desirable that a recess should be taken till Monday morning-the Jury in the meantime to separate, but to allow no person to converse with them or read anything in regard to the trial, during the recess. The District Attorney said he had no doubt of the power of the Court to permit the Jury to separate; he would prefer, however, that it should be done in this case by consent. Mr. Clinton consented, and the Court took a recess to Monday.

house and firmture were in possession of Mr. and Mrs. Demman at the time of the levy.

On behalf of plaintiff it is said that the property origi-nally belonged to Mr. Demman, that Mr. D. became in-volved, and was compelled to make a loan of $500 of Mr. James Grioley, (one of the counsel in the case) giv-Mr. James Grialey, (one of the counsel in the case) giv-ing to Mr. G. in security, a mortgage of the property in question. Finally Mr. G. was desirous of a retarn of the money, and insisted, on Mr. D. not being able to pay him, (Mr. D. being embarrassed) that the property should be delivered up to him, which was done. Mr. Gridley afterward, under the law permitting married women to held property, sold the said property to Mrs. D., taking a mortgage of it, sed her note for $500 for the pay—lo-ing so that Mrs. D. might be enabled to carry on the law terms.

Some time afterward Mr. G., being desirous of realizbusiness.

Some time afterward Mr. G., being desirous of realizing the money, sold the note with transfer of the mortange to a perty who placed the mortange in the hands of Mr. Nash, suctioneer, with directions to resilze, and the property was on the eve of being sold when plaintiff appeared, as the trustes of the father and mother of Mrs. D., paid the money, and took a mortgage in his own name on the property, leaving it in possession of Mrs. D., Mr. D. being still attending to the house) as before, Mr. Regers having obtained a judgment some time previous grainst Mr. Deaman as above stated, caused execution to issue and given to the Sheriff with directions for him to levy. Plaintiff notified the Deputy Sheriff as to his ownership of the property, but Mr. Rogers indeminited the Sheriff, and it was sold. The present action is brought to recover back its value.

In defense the Sheriff denies that the property was worth $500. He also insists that it was rightfully levisal upon under cleim against Mr. D., who, it he did not own the property, had a leviable interest therein.

After proof was taken, motion was made for a diaminsal of the complaint, principally on the ground that Mrs. D. could not, by law, give a mortgage, note, &c. The Court, in reply, seld the Legislature has gradually adopted measures for the relief of parties to save them from destitution on becoming embarrassed, first granical and the complaint principally on the ground from execution.

The Court does not feel authorized to dismiss the complaint, but the counsel for defense may enter exceptions and bring the points as to the note and mortgage before the General Term. Testimony was taken by defense. Verdict for the plaintiff, valuing the property at $300.

In defense, it is said, that on the steambout arriving at a bend in the river, called the Old Orchard, the atmosphere being thick, but the wind calm, she observed the Ohio about 300 feet off, drifting with the tide, which was running 34g knots, and without influence from her helm—that the steambout immediately stopped and backed—but not time enough to avoid a slight collision, which did, however, very little damage. It was contended that the steambout was not to blame. Testimony was taken.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT-Before Judge GREEN AMILY QUARREL—John Camry egt. Edward Mullin This action is for the recovery for the board of detendant's wife before her marriage to defendant, (and sister of the plaintiff) for fifteen months, at $6 a month, amounting to $90.

The plaintiff proved by his brother and father that defendant's wife, the sister of the plaintiff, boarded with plaintiff from the time she arrived in his country until the was married to the defendant, that is from July 2, 1851, to September 5, 1852, and that such board was such all $55 aways.

1851, to September 5, 1852, and that such board was worth $1 55 a week.

The defendant showed by several witnesses that his wife came to this country with her father and his family, consisting of the plaintiff and one other brother, that her either lived in the house No. 37 West Broadway, and kept house there, that she lived with him as one of the iamily, doing housework, &c., and that her work was worth more than her board, and that her father had frequently said that the understanding was, that she was to pay no board, but her having married the defendant of discathfield the family that they had resorted to all sorts of complaints and actions to persecute her and her husband, and this action was brought for the purpose of harassing them.

just cosm for payment for the board it there was no such understanding, as he was a mere boarder himself with his father who should have brought this action if there was any legal claim. Besides, the action is against the husband alone, when it should have been against the dendant and his wife; the alledged indebtedness having accrued before coverture. I therefore order judgment for defendant, and costs.

U. S. COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE—Before Commissioner Nelson.

John Smith and five others, seamen of the ship New-York, were examined on the above charge. It appears that they shipped, with 14 others, for the voyage to Liverpool, and the ship anchored, preparatory to starting, in the East River. The steamboat came alongside to take her to see, and the men were directed to man the capstan and holet the anchor. The men ranged toward alt, and were asked what they did so for, when they replied they were mustering to seed all were there. On finding the ship had twenty men, they said that was not her complement, and insisted upon her having twenty-two. They refused to go to work, and after some of the passengers had been set to work to hoist the anchor, some of the men said that they would knock the first man's brains out that attempted to hoist the anchor. Capt. Marshall, one of the owners, on being apprised of it, went on board, and the men still refusing to proceed, a warrant was obtained and served, when fourteen of the men agreed to go to work. The other six refusing, they were arrested. It appeared that the men were mistaken as to the number of men necessary to constitute the crew. It was stated by Capt. Marshall that the ship was a small packet, between 800 and 900 tuns, and that twenty men was a full and competenterew. Smith and four others were yesterdy committed. The decision as to Williams reserved for further argument.
